

Call for Editors: International Review of Human Rights Law

The International Review of Human Rights Law is an annual, online and open-access law journal. The journal is an effort to address human rights issues around the world. It provides a platform to practitioners, academicians and students for publication of original scholarly papers on human rights issues. The papers can be in the forms of articles, case notes, book reviews and responses. The journal encourages comparative and empirical analysis.

The International Review of Human Rights Law has been assigned International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) 2455 – 8648 on 19 April 2016 via email confirmation letter (reference number: NSL/ISSN/INF/2016/513).

This initiative is by Aditya Shukla, a graduate alumnus of Jindal Global Law School (India). The legal body formed to run the journal is Sri Ramkrishna Jagrukta Samiti: a society registered under the Chhattisgarh Societies Registration Act. The Registration Number of the Society is 28918.

After publication of the Inaugural Issue on 26 January 2016, the journal currently, requires Editors for the Second Issue. The Call for Papers for the Second Issue will be in the month of August 2016 and the Second Issue will be released in February 2017.

The journal requires the following:

Editors and Senior Editors

Except for 1st yr. /2nd yr. B.A.,LL.B students and 1st yr. LL.B students rest can apply. The journal requires students pursuing graduation as Editors and students pursuing Masters or those who have completed Post-Graduation as Senior Editors. Both Editors and Senior Editors will be required to edit 30 – 40 pages per month.

Editor – in – Chief

The journal requires Editor-in-Chief who can guide the journal for its further development. Probably, someone who has prior editing experience will be suitable for the position.

Please note: None of the positions in the journal are paid.

Interested ones can send “Expression of Interest” along with C.V. by 5 June 2016 to managingeditor.irhrl@gmail.com.

Website: www.irhrl.com, Email id: managingeditor.irhrl@gmail.com