And to top it all, our media coverage is expansive, with features like Humans of Virudhaka, our own Facebook and Instagram accounts and other social media platforms. So play, win and show off!

AND THEN IT'S BHOPAL!

Flaunting the regality of a capital, Bhopal will show you why Madhya Pradesh “ajab hai, sabse gazab hai!” A brilliantly beautiful blend of the nawabi antiquity and modern megalopolis, Bhopal will surely enrapture your aesthetic, spiritual and cultural sense. The City of Lakes with its verdant foliage and panoramic vistas of lakes will be a treat for senses. The city is poetry in itself, a sojourn through the old city, with its marvelous mosques, traditional markets exuding grandiose and the contemporary architectural marvels.

So when in Bhopal, do as Bhopalis do!

The places you should visit while at the nation's heart are:

Taj-ul-Masajid: deservedly embracing the sobriquet of ‘Crown among Mosques’, its massive pillars in the hall hold 27 ceilings through squinted arches of which 16 ceilings are decorated with ornate petaled designs, making it one of the largest mosques in Asia.

Sanchi: Situated 46 km from Bhopal, it is best known for its Stupas and other Buddhist monuments. The Stupas of Sanchi were built by Emperor Asoka in the 3rd century BC. The Great Stupa is considered to be the oldest stone structure of India and is also a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Bhimbetka Rock Shelters: Again a member of the World Heritage List of UNESCO club, the 700 rock shelters are spectacular, enshrined in an environment of convoluted cliffs on the top of a hill with an astonishing vista that takes you back to the Neolithic Era they preserve.

Upper Lake (Bhojtal): It is the oldest manmade lake in India, dating back to the 11th century! The hub of all water sport activities in Bhopal, the lake is a favorite spot for adventure enthusiasts. A boat club, walkway and aquarium, serenaded by a cool breeze, make the Upper Lake area delightful for a rendezvous.

Boasting a masterful fusion of culture and cuisines, Bhopal sure satiates all foodie cravings! Here's what you should try!

Sagar Gaire: A vegetarian's paradise, you just cannot resist its cheese soup, triple decked cheese sandwich and biryani!

Manohar Dairy: this is one stop for all your chaat yearnings and an ultimate destination for that insatiable sweet tooth. It is the best place for all the light Indian snacks and sweets.

Jehan Numa: an unforgettable experience of royalty, it has a distinct influence of the Begums of Bhopal. The four restaurants- Shahnama, La Kuchina, Under the Mango Tree and Cafechino will leave you marveling at the sheer regality of everything.

Bhabhi's Maggi: NLIU's most loved haunt for students, this small shack nestled in the lush Kerwa Dam ambience gives you some soupy, spicy Maggi, other snacks and a scenic walk from the campus to remember forever!

Café Kulture: for people out there with OCD (Obsessive Coffee Disorder)! The café carries a mix of casual and party vibe with a zingy twist.

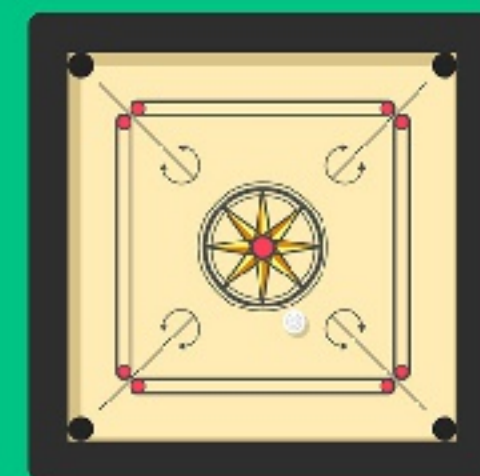

The Urban Socialite: adorned by a 180 degree view of the Upper Lake it has large halls and sit-outs overlooking the lake and is home to one of Bhopal's finest and most creative restaurants as well as a unique setting!
