

STUDENTS FOR THE PROMOTION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW, MUMBAI

CALL FOR PAPERS

EXTENDED SUBMISSIONS
DEADLINE:

5TH FEBRUARY

SPIIL INTERNATIONAL LAW
JOURNAL
FOREWORD BY JUSTICE G.S.
PATEL

VOLUME I (REVIVAL EDITION)

Theme: Any topic of contemporary relevance in the area of International Law

CATEGORIES AND WORD LIMIT

ARTICLES:

An Article must comprehensively analyse a specific issue. It must study or evaluate the status quo, indicate any lacunae therein, and suggest potential solutions. It may also employ a comparative, historical or multi-disciplinary approach to strengthen the author's argument. An Article should be between 6000 and 10000 words.

ESSAYS:

Essays are more concise in terms of scope and conceptualization. An Essay should be between 4000 and 6000 words.

CASE NOTES AND/OR LEGISLATIVE COMMENTARIES:

Notes and commentaries discuss or critique a recent judgement, landmark case or any recent legislation or bill before parliament or a state legislature. A Note/ Commentary should be between 1500 and 3000 words.

SUBMISSIONS GUIDELINES

FORMAT

- The ILJ follows 'Harvard Bluebook 20th Edition' style of referencing. The body of the manuscript should be in Times New Roman, size 12 with 1.5 line spacing and Justified Alignment. The footnotes should be in Times New Roman, size 10 with Single spacing.
- All the word limits mentioned in the 'CATEGORIES AND WORD LIMIT' section are exclusive of footnotes. Please note that the word limits will be strictly enforced.
- Every submission should be accompanied by an abstract of not more than 200 words providing a summary of the manuscript. The abstract will not be including in the word limit.

AUTHORSHIP AND ELIGIBILITY

Original submissions are invited from undergraduate and postgraduate students, industry practitioners, academicians and research scholars. Submissions may be co-authored, by a maximum of 2 authors.

SUBMISSION PROCEDURE

NOTE

- The SPIL ILJ accepts only original submissions which have not been published before. Any plagiarized article will not be accepted.
- The manuscript must not contain any indication of the identity of the author(s). Biographical information of the author(s) is to be provided in the content of the email which contains the submission, including the following: Name, Qualification, Email Address, and Postal Address. This is to maintain fairness during the review process.
- Before being accepted for publishing in the journal, every manuscript will undergo a review process. Failure to pass the review process will result in the disqualification of the manuscript from being accepted.

DEADLINE

The last date for submission for 'Volume 1 (Revival Edition)' of the International Law Journal is 31st January 2021. Submissions sent after the deadline will not be considered for publication.

SUBMISSION

Please send your submissions as a '.doc' or a '.docx' file with your biographical information mentioned in the content of the email to ilj.spilmumbai@gmail.com. The subject title of the email should be 'International Law Journal Volume 1 (Revival Edition) – Submission'.

For further queries, please contact us at iljspilmumbai@gmail.com

