3. On the earlier occasion, when the matter came up for consideration, the learned counsel for the Model School by name, Kavitha Dheenadhayalan appeared through video conference, but her voice was not audible. Therefore, the Court directed her to appear before the Court in person and explain regarding the necessary aspect of the administration of the Model School.

4. However, when the matter is listed today, the learned counsel, again appeared only through Video Conference and for substantial time, her voice was not audible. Further, she was unable to explain purpose for which such information is sought from the vulnerable section of students, except stating that these information are not collected in public and the information collected are well secured. The purpose, for which these information are collected from the students of the Model School, was not explained in the counter affidavit. The impugned proceedings of the Principal Secretary indicates that these information are collected to show some special attention on the students suffering from the following stigmas:

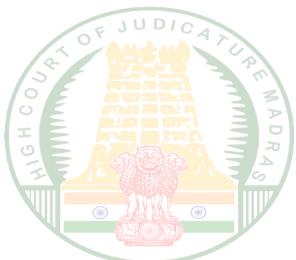

- “1. Students With Both Parents Not Alive
- 2. Student With Single Parent Alive

5. It is not explained as to what is the special attention that is going to show to the students. The information are very sensitive and

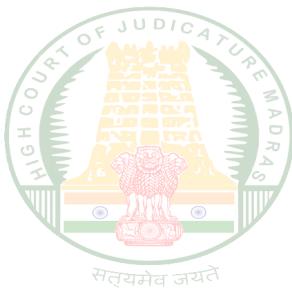

मानव जय manner in which they are going to collect, will necessarily traverse into
WEB COPY the privacy of the young students. The third respondent claims that as parens patriae, they need to document these information. The Teachers are requested to collect the data and forward it through EMIS website as per the demo video annexed to the impugned order.

6. The data sought to be collected as well as the manner in which, it is to be documented, in our view is absolutely in violation of privacy and such information sought to be collected from the students, who are pursuing their studies in Model School run by the Government, is clear discrimination and ill-treatment of the students of the Model School and contrary to the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Justice K.S.Puttaswamy (Retd.) and another vs. Union of India and others [AIR 2017 SC 4161], wherein it has been held as follows:

3. Privacy is a constitutionally protected right which emerges primarily from the guarantee of life and personal liberty in Article 21 of the Constitution. Elements of privacy also arise in varying contexts from the other facets of freedom and dignity recognised and guaranteed by the fundamental rights contained in Part III;

WEB COPY 6. Privacy includes at its core the preservation of personal intimacies, the sanctity of family life, marriage, procreation, the home and sexual orientation. Privacy also connotes a right to be left alone. Privacy safeguards individual autonomy and recognises the ability of the individual to control vital aspects of his or her life. Personal choices governing a way of life are intrinsic to privacy. Privacy protects heterogeneity and recognises the plurality and diversity of our culture. While the legitimate expectation of privacy may vary from the intimate zone to the private zone and from the private to the public arenas, it is important to underscore that privacy is not lost or surrendered merely because the individual is in a public place. Privacy attaches to the person since it is an essential facet of the dignity of the human being.”

7. This Court finds that it is an absolute abuse of power to demoralise the students, who have stigmatic background. Hence, the impugned order stands quashed and this writ petition is allowed. Consequently, connected miscellaneous petitions are closed. There shall be no order as to costs.
