Introduction

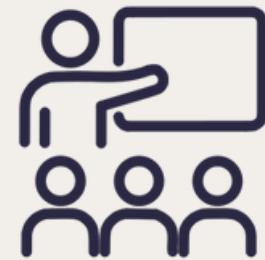

MBA Healthcare Management & Law; Where Law Drives Healthcare Leadership

National Law University Odisha (NLUO), Cuttack is a nationally acclaimed institution at the forefront of legal and interdisciplinary education in India. Established under the National Law University Orissa Act, 2008, and operational since 2009³¹⁰, NLUO has built a strong reputation for academic excellence, research leadership, and policy relevance. This standing is reaffirmed by its 15th Rank in the NIRF 2025 (Law Category) among 267 institutions nationwide.

NLUOs academic strength lies in its ability to translate legal knowledge into real-world impact. With a research-driven pedagogy, experiential learning culture, and deep engagement with public policy and governance, the University nurtures ethical leaders, strategic thinkers and problem solvers: prepared to lead in complex and regulated environments.

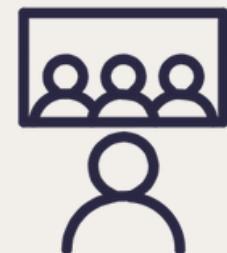

The healthcare sector is expanding at an unprecedented pace. Hospitals, pharmaceuticals, medical devices, clinical trials, tele-medicine, health insurance, and medical tourism, now operate within a landscape shaped by technology, regulation, ethics and public accountability. As patient awareness grows and compliance demands intensify, law has become central to healthcare management and leadership. Recognizing this shift, NLUO offers the MBA in Healthcare Management & Law - a distinctive programme that brings together management expertise and legal intelligence.

Designed for the realities of modern healthcare, the programme equips professionals to navigate regulatory frameworks, manage institutions, mitigate risk, ensure compliance and deliver patient-centric care. Through its interdisciplinary curriculum and hands-on learning approach, NLUO prepares future-ready leaders who do more than manage healthcare systems - they shape them. Graduates emerge as legally informed, ethically grounded decision-makers, capable of building a healthcare ecosystem that is efficient, compliant, ethical, and just.
