About THE UNIVERSITY

Recognising the importance of quality legal education and the requirement for professionally equipped law graduates to serve the Bar, the Bench, and various professions, the State of Maharashtra established three autonomous National Law Universities at Mumbai, Nagpur, and Chhatrapati Sambhajinagar under the Maharashtra National Law University Act, 2014.

The Maharashtra National Law University, Chhatrapati Sambhajinagar commenced its operations on 16 March 2017, fulfilling the long-standing aspiration of the Marathwada region for a premier institution dedicated to legal education.

The University is established with the objective of imparting quality legal education, developing advanced clinical pedagogies and research, and inculcating professional values and requisite skills for advocacy. It offers undergraduate and postgraduate programmes in Law, Management, and Public Policy, together with postgraduate studies and research programmes in specialised areas, Diplomas and Certificate Courses in various disciplines and a Post-Doctoral Research Programme in Law (LL.D.)

About PARMARS

PARMARS
SPORT | LAW | BUSINESS

Parmars is an international sports business and law consultancy supporting international and national governing bodies, clubs, agencies, athletes, officials and executives across a multitude of sports including football, futsal, esports, volleyball, athletics, boxing, tennis, cricket and more.

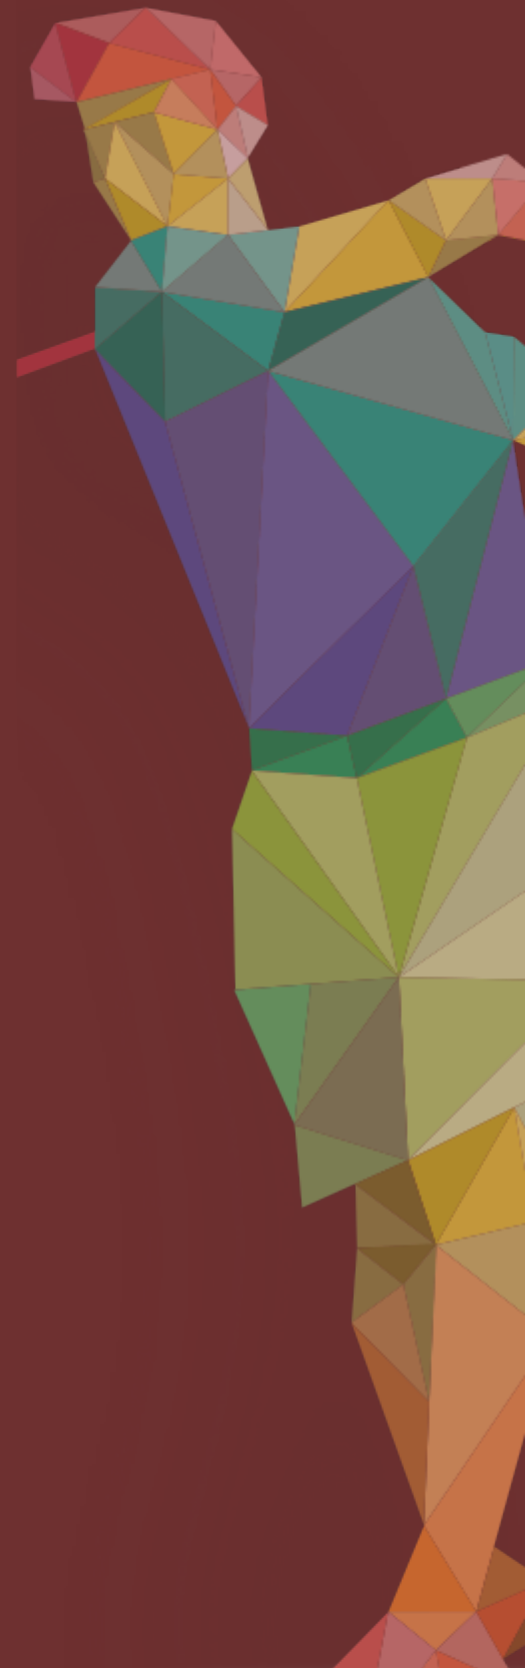

They provide bespoke, practical guidance, support and training on contentious and non-contentious matters, including dispute resolution, governance and risk management, reputation and crisis management, athlete management, business development and cross-border partnerships.

Parmars has successfully represented clients before FIFA, TAS/CAS and the BAT, as well as having advised international sports federations, national football federations and provided club legal services across dozens of countries.

Parmars has specialist consultants and strong working relationships across every inhabited continent and also supports sports development, local communities and education including partnerships with Football

Foundation for Africa (Kenya), as well as global leading educational institutions including ISDE (Spain) and Les Roches (Switzerland).

With experience across hundreds of private dispute resolution cases in sports, it's members include arbitration panel members, board members at both international and national level, and lecturers across various jurisdictions.

About THE CENTRE

The Centre for Sports Law at MNLU is a dedicated research centre established to promote interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary research in Sports Law, encompassing related areas such as sports management, sports governance, and general law. It seeks to advance scholarship and education in the field of sport through rigorous research, academic engagement, and policy-oriented work. The Centre undertakes research in Sports Law, Sports Management, and Sports Governance, while also raising awareness of the challenges and opportunities in sports both in India and globally through its International Sports Law Lecture Series. In addition, it aims to foster positive reform in Sports Law, Policy, and Governance in India by preparing policy papers and scholarly publications. The Centre further encourages student involvement through research internships, webinars, and other academic events, and collaborates with international sports lawyers and academics to deepen the understanding of Sports Law, Business, and Governance in India and abroad.

About THE COURSE

The Centre for Sports Law at Maharashtra National Law University, Chhatrapati Sambhajnagar, in collaboration with Parmars, an international sports law firm, proposes to introduce a Four-Week Online Certificate Course on Sports Law and Sports Governance. The proposed programme seeks to impart comprehensive knowledge of the legal, regulatory, commercial, and governance dimensions of sports at both the national and international levels.

In light of the increasing commercialization of sports, enhanced regulatory scrutiny, growing concerns relating to athletes' rights, anti-doping compliance, dispute resolution, and integrity in sport, as well as emerging developments such as esports and artificial intelligence, there is a rising need for structured academic programmes in the field of Sports Law.

Unlike short-term workshops or one-week certificate courses, a four-week programme would provide participants with adequate time to develop a thorough understanding of both the theoretical and practical aspects of Sports Law. It would also enable meaningful interaction with distinguished experts from academia, the judiciary, sports administration, and the sports industry.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- To provide a comprehensive understanding of the legal, constitutional, and regulatory framework governing sports at national and international levels.
- To examine the governance structures and functions of international and Indian sports institutions and federations.
- To familiarize participants with anti-doping laws, sports contracts, athlete representation, arbitration, and dispute resolution mechanisms.
- To analyze the commercial and intellectual property aspects of sports, including broadcasting, sponsorship, licensing, and merchandising.
- To develop awareness of emerging issues in sports, including athlete welfare, gender justice, esports, artificial intelligence, betting regulation, and data protection.

Eligibility

The course is open to:

Law Students, Advocates, Physical Education Students; Sports Administrators, Coaches, Athletes; Faculty Members, Government Officials and Professionals interested in sports law.
